

Nugglemama's Handful

Tales, Tips and Product Reviews from a Mom to Many

I am a married stay at home mom to five kids ages 10 (g), 9(g), 7(g), 6(b) and 3(g) years old. In my free time I enjoy photography, cooking and sewing.

We live in suburban Quebec in a home that we are currently renovating. We are hands on and have done most of the work ourselves with a little help along the way. We also love getting outside and exploring Quebec and all her natural beauty. Road trips and geocaching are one of our favorite things to do together as a family.

When working with me you will quickly come to realize that I am an enthusiastic, positive person who really gets behind the brands I represent. I honor my commitments, follow through and follow up. I believe in building relationships both with the companies I represent as well as with my readers. I am almost always reachable, but admit my family comes first. I am particular in which brands I work with and if you aren't a good fit for me or my blog I am happy to connect you with others that might be a better fit.

If you are interested in learning more about how you can put my positive energy to work for you please email me at juliag@nugglemama.ca. Nugglemama's Handful also accepts and welcomes sponsorship to various social media functions and events throughout the year and am currently looking to partner with the right brand for BlogHer 2012 in NYC and BlissDom Canada.
